

Think you can't save for retirement? It's as easy as skipping that latte.

Saving for retirement doesn't have to mean making huge sacrifices, just balancing what you need — hello, groceries! — versus what you want, like that tasty venti mocha latte.

If you can manage to save $5 a week, you can contribute $20 a month towards your retirement — and over time, that can add up.

Think saving can wait?

Sure, if you're willing to throw away thousands of dollars later. If you put money into the New Hampshire Deferred Compensation Plan at an early age, you'll get the benefit of compound interest. Check out this hypothetical example:

IF YOU START LATER...

Saving $20 monthly from ages 40-65 could give you $13,929 by age 65.

IF YOU STARTED EARLY INSTEAD...

Saving $20 monthly from ages 20-30 could give you $25,204 by age 65. By starting earlier you put less away and still end up with more!

$25,204

FOR ILLUSTRATIVE PURPOSES ONLY. This hypothetical illustration is not intended as a projection or prediction of future investment results, nor is it intended as financial planning or investment advice. It assumes a 6% annual rate of return and reinvestment of earnings, with no withdrawals. Rates of return may vary. The illustration does not reflect any charges, expenses or fees that may be associated with your Plan. The tax-deferred accumulation shown above would be reduced if these fees had been deducted.

Of course, this is just coffee money. If you started early and saved more, say $250 a month, you could have closer to $300,000 by the time you're ready to retire. Whether you save $20 a month or $250, the point is the same: You need to start saving, pronto.
